

What's the point of being innocent
What's the point of being smart
What's the point if you don't even try to bring your dreams to life.

You don't want to see the future
You don't want to know the past
You don't want to live the present
Life means nothing? You are lost!

Feel the smell of morning flowers
Feel the sound of singing birds
Feel the air that moves around you
Find yourself and learn the truth.

You are not a breathing statue
You are not a moving stone
You are not a thick-skinned reptile
You're a man with his own sense.

Free your mind of all prejudices
Free your soul of all the pain
Free yourself of all the burden
Let your heart beat once again.

Lose the loss and find your path
Lose the hopelessness inside
Lose the dark that falls around you
Life is everything you've got.